

60 SECONDS CHIEF
QUESTIONS	 Arun Jain Chairman & CEO Polaris Software Chennai
One teacher I remember, and why.	Prof. P. Kundu, for his discipline.
One most valuable work lesson, thus far.	Spend more time listening than telling.
One thing I look for the most in a new recruit.	Problem-solving ability.
One thought from a book that I am currently reading.	360-degree learning, from J. Krishnamoorthy.
One tip for time management.	Understand the pattern of time consumption and plan accordingly.
One key thing in my fitness routine.	Yoga and meditation.
One signal that tells me there is a problem.	No communication.
One technique for handling anger.	Observe conflicts in your mind and acknowledge them.
One essential ingredient in my investment portfolio.	Company vision.
One good thing about the new generation.	Sharp observers and spontaneous.
One worrying thing about the young.	Growing up with little constraints.
One thing that clinches a deal.	Genuineness.
One definition of values.	Soil for high-performing mind.
One way that I use for resolving conflicts.	Listen to your voice.
One favourite activity when travelling.	Reading.
One indicator of performance.	Intensity, attention, precision.
One macroeconomic variable I keenly watch.	GDP + human basic needs + greed of society.
One dream I'd like to chase, later in life.	Enable and influence high-performance thinking in people.
One good way to foster innovation.	Set the dream and enable its achievement.